

AXIS HINTS AT JAP ACTION

Star Sponsors Cook Booklet Sale Monday

Series of 20
Booklets, One to Appear Here
Each Week

Beginning Monday The Star will present to its readers twenty Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooklets covering almost every phase of cooking and homemaking. Each of these booklets is practical and useful, designed to help homemakers save time, money and effort in preparing meals of interest and variety for every occasion.

Altogether, the twenty booklets contain 1,000 pages, 7,500 recipes and suggestions and hundreds of beautiful and instructive illustrations. An interesting feature of all the booklets is special process information presenting short cuts, methods and new ways of preparing familiar and new dishes. The interesting variety of subjects allows almost unlimited scope in planning meals for the family, company dinners, party refreshments, etc. There is valuable and practical information on meats, pies, pastries, cakes, vegetables, soups, fish, sea food, eggs, pointings, sandwiches, candies, desserts, cookies, dairy products, and menus for every day in the year.

The Cookbooklets have been prepared by a staff of experienced home economists under the direction of Ruth Berolzheimer, editor of the popular American Woman's Cook Book and the United States Regional Cook Book. The Culinary Arts Institute comprises the only group of trained home economists in the country devoting themselves exclusively to the production of cook books.

These Cookbooklets represent years of planning and extended research in gathering the best recipes and illustrations available and in compiling the most complete and useful information on each subject. Every effort has been made to answer the questions that arise constantly, to solve the problems that confront the woman who prepares an average of 1,000 meals a year.

See the special announcement on page 4 today telling how easily these booklets are available, a new one each week as a special public service to every reader of The Star.

To Select 25 CCC Enrollees

154 Hempstead
Boys Enrolled in
CCC at Present

During the period April 11-20 inclusive the Hempstead County Department of Public Welfare will select approximately 25 young men between the ages of 17 and 23 for enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

There are at present 154 boys enrolled in the CCC from Hempstead county. Of the $30.00 which is paid them each month besides food, clothing, housing, and medical and dental care, $15.00 is sent to their dependents, $7.00 is placed on deposit for them, and $8.00 is paid to them in cash. As a result of these wages, $4620 accrues to residents of the county each month.

Because of the ensuing enrollment during April of 25 boys from Hempstead county, $750 additional will be received in the county.

House Support for Lend Bill

Resolution Adopted Thanking Congress- sional Group

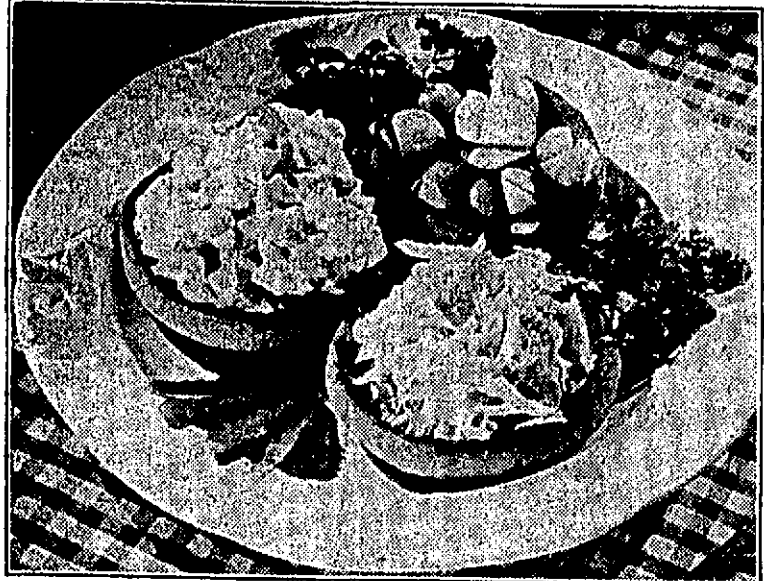

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—A resolution expressing thanks to the Arkansas congressional delegation for supporting the lend-lease bill in congress was adopted Saturday in the Arkansas house by a divided voice vote. There was no debate.

The resolution was introduced by Rep. Julian James of Jonesboro.

Something New in Cookbooks

The Star, which for seven years sponsored free cooking schools at the Saenger, drawing as high as 4,000 women to the theater for a total of five matinee performances, has undertaken a new promotion for housewives and the grocery trade—selling at publisher's cost the most beautiful and complete series of Cook Booklets ever offered in the United States.

There are 20 booklets, each dealing with a specific subject. One will be announced each week, on sale at The Star office at 10c per copy.

A loose-leaf binder may be had for 39c, holding the entire series of 20 booklets—a complete index to anything that the kitchen can prepare.

As those housewives who attended Star-cooking schools at the Saenger know, if this newspaper is offering something to the public, along that line it comes from the very best authority.

The booklets are produced by the Consolidated Book Publishing company of Chicago.

They were sponsored originally by the Chicago Times.

Today they are being offered to subscribers by some of the best known papers in America, among them being: Miami Daily News, Milwaukee Sentinel, New York Daily Mirror, Washington Times-Herald, Indianapolis News and Portland Oregonian—to name only a few of a hundred or more.

Cookbooks are an old idea, but ever new, depending on the arrangement and presentation. This is the most beautiful set of books you have ever seen—and we have already inspected the first 10 booklets.

At the request of Senator Caraway (Dem., Ark.), the committee, at an emergency meeting Friday, voted to reconsider its action of Tuesday in approving the bill, and sent it to the subcommittee to study an amendment suggested by the Arkansas senator.

The bill would provide for reapportionment by the "equal proportions" method. If this method is not adopted, reapportionment will be by the "major fractions" method and Arkansas will lose one seat which would be added to Michigan's present 17.

The committee's approval of the bill Tuesday did not solve Arkansas' problem, because the committee turned down an amendment which would eliminate a requirement of existing law that the reapportionment method be determined no later than Saturday.

Existing law requires that the clerk of the house order reapportionment within 60 days after certification of 1940 census figures. This 60-day period ends Saturday. Because the senate will not hold consideration of the lend-lease bill to take up reapportionment, it seemed impossible to meet the deadline.

Proposes New State Airline

Would Set Up New Field in South,
West Arkansas

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new airline service for points in south and west Arkansas was proposed Friday in a notice filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board that Southeast Feeder Airlines, Inc., of Oklahoma City, intended to ask for permanent certificates to operate over 19 new routes.

Authority to transport passengers, mail and express will be asked for nine of the routes, including one running between Houston, Tex., and Tulsa, Okla., by way of Muskogee, Okla., and Muskogee, Okla., Tex., Shreveport, La., Texarkana, Fine Bluff, Little Rock, Fort Smith, Ark., and Muskogee, Okla.

Other routes would involve mail and express pick-up only.

The company is headed by Thomas O. Hardin, former chairman of the abolished Air Safety Board.

Bachelors Paid Fine

A Scottish law of 1288 gave bachelors a chance of escaping Leap Year proposals by the ladies upon payment of a fine up to one English pound sterling.

Axis Threatens the Yugoslavs for Hesitating

Gaya, Italian Editor, Blames 'Rooseveltian Interference'

ROME—(AP)—Virgilio Gaya, Fascist editorial spokesman, indicated Saturday that Yugoslavia would be asked to "clarify her position and intentions" toward the Axis powers as a result of an Axis-reported attempt by President Roosevelt to keep the Balkan country out of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo camp.

Gaya said "the Anglo-Saxon action tends to compromise her (Yugoslavia) in every form, and create ambiguities every day on her relations with the Axis powers."

"The Belgrade government will not lack the occasion to fix its attitude beyond any possible present and future uncertainty," he added significantly.

Gaya asked what Roosevelt would do if some day "one attempted or favored rising in the American zone against the U. S."

"Who threatens the world order with its divisions of people and interest and the American system itself, if not Roosevelt himself, with his unreasonably adventurous initiative which may by natural reactions turn back against his own imperialism?" Gaya continued.

The writer declared that Roosevelt by "seeking the intervention of third parties in the war against the Axis" confesses that American aid to Britain was insufficient and "betrays his own promise to the voters" that the U. S. would not become involved in the war.

"President Roosevelt is working with the deliberate initiative to carry the aggressive will to carry the U. S. into the war," Gaya declared.

Band Letters Are Awarded

Service Letters Are Given to 15 Members

At the regular rehearsal period Friday, service letters were awarded to fifteen members of the High School Band, according to an announcement by Cannon today.

For two seniors, Thomas Kinser and Luther Garner, the awards were made for the third time. Second awards went to Martha Ann Alexander, Margaret Bush, and Wallace Beene.

Those winning their first letter were Everett Lamb, Carolyn Robertson, Mary Elizabeth King, Bobby Barnett, Robert Ward, Kinard Young, Jack Bell, Charles Clifford Francis, H. O. Kyler, and Sammie Segnar.

Mexico Ready to Sign Pact

Military Treaty With U. S. Would Be Welcomed

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Foreign Minister Padilla told the Mexican senate Friday that this country would "not hesitate to sign a military pact with the United States" should an emergency arising from the war require it.

The minister appeared at the invitation of the senate to explain Mexico's status under the Havana Pan-American agreements and to answer questions about discussions between the two countries now in progress in Washington on the subject of possible military collaboration.

Ambassador Josephus Daniels was among the spectators.

Padilla said Mexico had no secret pacts and declared that any military bases which may be established in Mexico would be "built with American money."

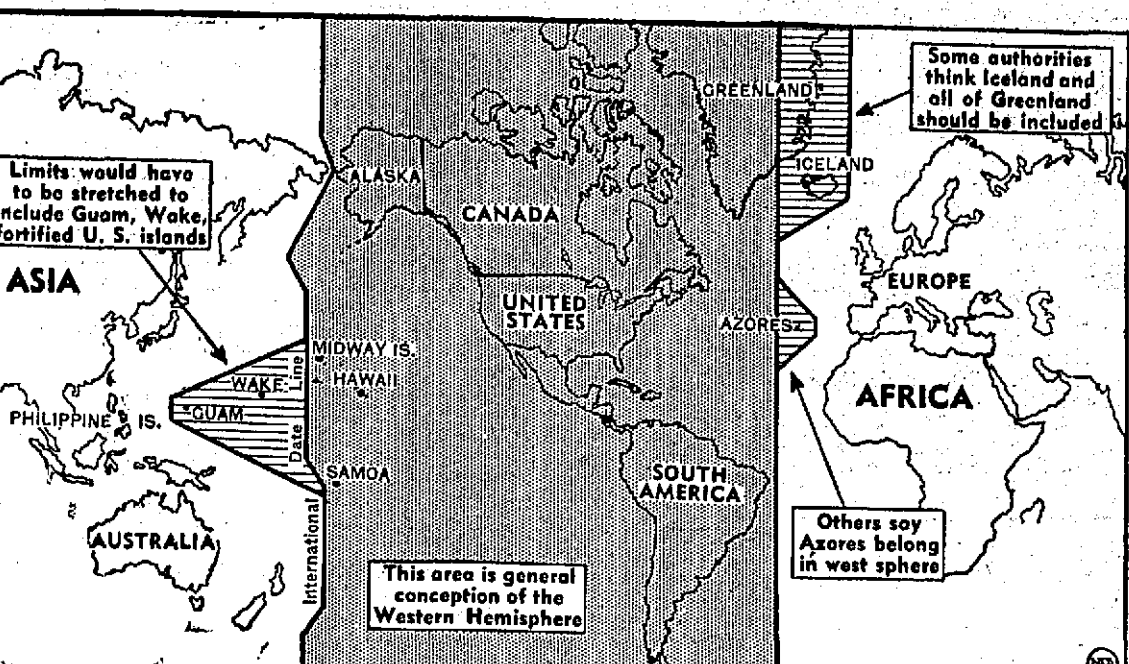

"Never for any reason," he added, "will Mexico transfer its national sovereignty."

Enlists Jefferson to Pay Taxes

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Mrs. J. W. Dollins collects new nickles for a purpose.

When her state and county taxes came due, she turned over 473 nickles of 1940 vintage, the result of a year's savings, to the sheriff's office.

Just Where DOES This Western Hemisphere Leave Off?

Proposals in Congress to restrict U. S. armed forces to the western hemisphere have made its geographical definition a knotty problem. Large shaded area shows general conception of its bounds, but not until it achieved irregular limits of additions shown would the western hemisphere actually include half of the world's area.

State Police Misrepresented

Not Concerned With Penitentiary, Haynie Declares

Sergeant F. V. Haynie of the Arkansas State Police said here Saturday that his conferences with the four Arkansas convicts who were hanged at Columbia, La., Friday were "nothing to do with conditions of the state penitentiary, as reported by the Associated Press in newspapers throughout the state."

His statement follows:

"Frank McGibbony and I had information that Boyce and Connolly, and another convict, had robbed a bank at Danville, Ark., in 1937 and we wanted to check this information with the convicts."

"They had given out this information while serving a sentence at the Arkansas penitentiary."

"A talk with Boyce Friday revealed they had told this hoping that officers would carry them into Oklahoma in an effort to recover some of the loot, thus giving them a possible chance to escape. They did not rob the bank."

"The statement in the morning papers is an error because we have nothing to do with affairs of the state prison."

Patmos Moves Up in Tourney

Hempstead Lads Advance to Junior Quarterfinals

JONESBORO — Patmos defeated Warren 74 to 27 Friday night to enter the quarterfinals of the state Junior basketball tournament along with Hardin, Mount Vernon, West Side of Little Rock.

Again James Mayton led the scoring attack with 41 points to bring his tournament total to 65. Mayton scored 24 points against Lavaca Friday afternoon to lead his team to a 36 to 27 win.

The south Hempstead lads will meet West Side of Little Rock at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Truck, Stolen at Lewisville, Found

LEWISVILLE, Ark.—A new truck stolen from the Lester Mercantile Company of Lewisville, February 23, has been recovered at Hugo, Okla., police officials announced Saturday. The truck was found in the streets of Hugo by Oklahoma authorities.

Thirty million copies of the Bible are sold annually.

To Continue Penal Probe

Appropriate Funds for Special Investigator

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Companion bills were introduced in the house Saturday asking for indefinite continuation of authority of the seven-man house penitentiary investigating committee and for appropriation of $10,000 for expenses of a special investigating prosecutor.

The appropriation bill, introduced by the committee, would provide for appointment of such a prosecutor by the governor "to represent the state in prosecutions which might arise from investigations conducted by the committee."

The special prosecutor would be empowered to prosecute in any county of the state with the same authority held by any prosecuting attorney.

Rep. O. E. Gates of Rison, investigating committee chairman, submitted the bill asking for continuation of authority.

Nazi Subs Sink 2 Destroyers

Claim 11 British Merchantmen
Sunk in Attack

BERLIN—(AP)—The German high command reported Saturday that a Nazi submarine and German speed-boats had sunk two British destroyers and 11 armed merchantmen totaling 61,400 tons in attacks on convoys.

The daily war bulletin said the submarine accounted for five vessels totaling 33,000 tons while the speed-boats, attacking convoys along the English southeast coast, downed six merchantmen including two tankers totaling 28,400 tons, along with the destroyers.

Matsuoka, Jap Foreign Chief, to Visit Berlin

But Possibly Jap Fears War and Wishes to Explain to Axis

By the Associated Press
A hint of tightening co-operation between Japan and her European Axis partners came in an official German announcement Saturday that Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka would reach Berlin shortly for "personal deliberations on all questions arising from collaboration as set forth in the three-powers pact."

Dispatches from Tokyo said Major General Eugene Ott, German ambassador to Japan, has started home to Berlin alone. No date was given for Matsuoka's trip.

One suggestion for Matsuoka's visit to Berlin and also Rome was that the Axis might be contemplating formulation of a common program of action against Britain and the U. S., both in Europe and the Far East. The possibility also was suggested that Japan is loathe to participate actively in the war against Britain and wishes to explain her position to Hitler.

Three Nazi bombers were reported shot down in dog fights off the English coast as the Luftwaffe resumed its attacks on Britain after a night of comparative quiet.

Germans in Morocco
In Madrid the press published a dispatch from Casablanca declaring that groups of German officers believed to number more than 100 had arrived in French Morocco to "observe the application of armistice terms."

These officers, the dispatch said, "will control French Morocco's administrative life, economy and politics in all matters directly or indirectly related to the war and armistice."

Balkan observers intimated that Germany's price for staying a threatened attack on Greece would cost the Greeks every hard-won mile of their gains against Italy and return their troops within their old frontiers.

German diplomats were said by some sources to have promised Greece that she could retain all territory she held before Oct. 28, when the Italians first attacked, if she would sign a peace giving Mussolini "a paper victory" in Albania.

But despite 150,000 Nazi soldiers poised for action on the Greek-Bulgarian border the Greeks battled grimly on in central Albania without a word of additional comment from Athens, where German diplomatic pressure so far apparently has fallen flat.

Greek diplomatic sources at Sofia declared flatly their country would "fight any German invasion."

Foreign sources in Athens said with out confirmation that Gen. Ugo Cavallero had been superseded as Italian commander by Gen. Carlo Geloso in another shakeup of the Italian command, but it was not clear whether Gen. Geloso was named only to command the Italians in Albania or made chief of staff of the entire Italian army.

The German Policy
SOFIA, Bulgaria.—(AP)—(The following was approved by the Bulgarian Press Office under a new censorship)—The Germans, directing more energy than ever before toward effecting a Greek-Italian peace, are offering Greece a settlement whereby she would lose a territory held by her at the beginning of the war, it was intimated Friday night. Economic rewards are being held out to Turkey. The price is a farewell (by Turkey) to Great Britain.

It is apparent here that the Germans are counting heavily on success of their diplomatic plans despite repeated Greek assertions Greece will continue to fight and despite the links with Britain Turkey has maintained.

Axis informants here said British Foreign Minister Eden failed to obtain from the Greeks a definite pledge to fight on and as proof of their contentions they point to the lack of specific declaration to that effect in Greek communiques.

The German effort in Turkey, even stronger than before the entrance of Nazi troops in Bulgaria, is aimed at nullifying all British influence there. (Fifty words were cut out here.) This large force may not have to fight if the German diplomatic program is attained.

An informant close to Axis diplomatic quarters intimated this diplomatic

Heroism Without Heroics

Can death be remarkable in a time like this, when men are dying daily in wholesale heaps from Chungking to Cherone?

Yes. What heroisms are hidden beneath the lines of casualty lists, what deeds of selflessness are daily being done in the quiet corners of the world, in the half of England's cities, on the mountain slopes, or in the glacial Libyan deserts, we cannot know.

Harrison in Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON, NEA Service Correspondent

'Aging' Deanna, Engaged, Now Cast With Boyer

HOLLYWOOD — A hundred heads turned as Deanna Durbin, in a comedy-black evening gown she had been wearing in a wardrobe test, swept into the studio cafe. Stars smiled, producers waved, and from a corner occupied by a group of writers came a faint but admiring whistle.

Miss Durbin moved toward her rooming on a vacant chair, and settled herself, said, half, parked her down for a nice vegetable plate and a few carefully chosen remarks on the subject of marriage.

Your correspondent sat there like a lumbago, remembering things.

It was five years ago I'd met her in the lobby of the main building, one afternoon when she and her mother had been settling some final details about Deanna going into pictures. At least there would be one picture, called "Three Smart Girls." Her contract, beginning at $150 a week, was sprinkled with three-month options, so she might not be around very long. Her acting test had been pretty bad.

Mrs. Durbin and her daughter did not tell me any of those things. They said how-d'-you-do, and the 13-year-old kid with the disconcerting, level gaze said "Yes" and "No" to a couple of questions.

"Cool child!" I remarked to a press agent a minute later. "Yes," he said. "We've been talking about adding a couple of years to her age because she's so poised that nobody'll believe she's so young. And people who hear her on the radio write in asking why, when a woman has such a marvelous voice, is it necessary to claim she's only a little girl?"

Remember That First Screen Kiss?

By 1937, Deanna was a star. Immediately there was a lot of speculation about whether she'd go through a gangling, awkward interval and what kind of stories she should have. Producer Joe Pasternak took a firm hand. He was determined that she'd never be arch or snooty or romantically precocious. Her screen adolescence was going to progress naturally, with nothing more serious than puppy-love.

In October, 1939—after stalling off the scene for almost five weeks—Miss Durbin stood on the balcony of a set for "First Love" and received her first screen kiss. The news of that chaste, scared peck from Robert Stack was flashed around the world.

And now, with "Nice Girl" just reaching the screen, Deanna is preparing for a picture called "Ready for Romance." The top man in it will be balding, hypnotic-voiced Charles Boyer. And to prove it's no misnomer, she'll be a honeymooning bride when the film is released.

Vaughan Paul, a 25-year-old associate producer at Universal, is the man, and June 7 is the wedding date. It'll be a church affair with all the fixings, a rare event in marry-in-haste Hollywood.

Deanna's Marriage Will Be Different

Miss Durbin is deeply and maybe a little defiantly in love. I think she feels and resents the thoughts of many people who, while wishing her all the luck in the world, have an unspoken conviction that marriage for any star is a mighty, precarious venture. This one, she's sure, will be different.

"Vaughan and I have gone together steadily for almost two and a half years," Deanna said. "And we've known each other ever since I started in pictures."

"His father (Vaughan Paul, now production manager for Edward Small) was at this studio then, and he introduced us. When I was getting started it seemed like Mr. Paul (the elder) was the only person I could get any sense out of. But his son got to be an assistant director on my pictures, and Vaughan and I began by fighting."

Smart Students Get Best Jobs, Survey Shows

By RUTH MILLETT

When Papa gives Young Johnny, in high school, a dollar for every "A" he earns—Johnny thinks an "A" is worth that one dollar and nothing more.

A recent study of what happens to Indianapolis youth after they have been graduated from high school shows that the "A" is worth a lot more than that to Johnny.

In this study a survey was made of 1201 students who finished high school ten years ago. And it was found that those high school "A's" were still paying dividends.

Here, in figures, is the correlation between grades and salaries ten years out of high school:

The boys who made "A's" in high school are earning an average of

The girls who made "A's" are averaging pay checks of $27.34. The girls who earned "B's" are making $21.37. And the girls who made "C's" grades are earning $17.36 a week.

Those figures ought to be ammunition for any parent whose son or daughter says, "Oh, heck, Grades do not count for anything once you're out of school."

For the young have a great respect for figures, when they hoot at preaching. And by the time they are in high school they're already thinking about what they can do to make money and get ahead.

There's only one thing. The survey showed something else that is not quite what the parents would like to have it show. It showed that while the girls with "A" grades got the better paying jobs—the girls who made "C's" grabbed off the husbands.

But their parents can't expect to have everything their own way. They will have to admit to Susie that getting "A" grades won't help her get a husband, unless a prospective husband is looking for a girl with a good job.

France Has Can'ts in Its Dance

VICHY, France — (AP) — Because France has many soldiers in prison camps and German troops in its richest areas, a state of national penance is generally observed. Consequently, when 150 young men and women were observed flocking to two establishments in Marseilles, an investigation was begun.

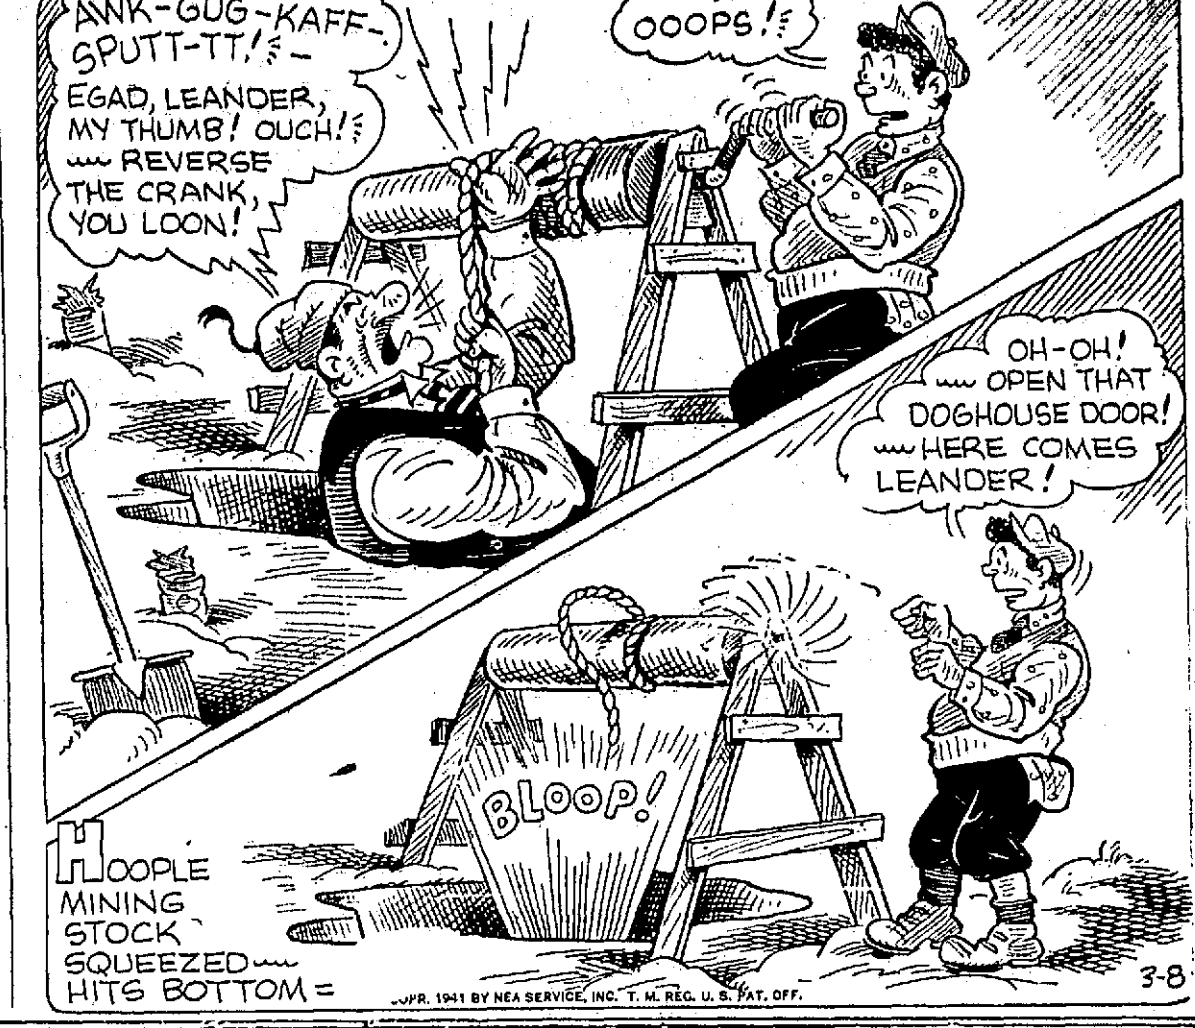

The press disclosed the places were operated so that "young people might abandon themselves to the pleasure of the dance." Police descended, arrested all dancing "criminals," placed

Signs Have Moved

When astrologists say we are in the sign of Gemini, the sun is in the sign of Taurus. At one time, the signs of the Zodiac agreed with the "constellations" of the Zodiac, but due to precession of the equinoxes during the last 2000 years, each sign has moved into the constellation west of it.

and Mrs. Lloyd Spencer and to share the pleasure of their 30th wedding anniversary celebration with their friends.

Decorating the reception rooms were arrangements of beautiful roses and frezia, gifts to the Jewells. A tempting three course dinner was served at small tables for four each, the tables being centered with small spring blossoms in bud vases. Following dinner, the guests were invited into the dining room, where the tiered wedding cake filled with charms topped with the same bride and groom that topped the bride's and hostess' wedding cake at the reception after their marriage 30 years ago.

A display of Mrs. Jewell's wedding dress and other things recalled to the guests a very happy day. Gifts of pearl were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Jewell by the Emerson members present, and they in turn presented gifts to Senator and Mrs. Spencer, to Senator and Mrs. Spencer, to Senator and Mrs. Spencer.

Guests were: Senator and Mrs. Lloyd Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Greening, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McDavitt, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Cornelius, and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McDavitt.

"Other Gardens" Theme of Rose Club Study on Friday
Seventeen members of the Rose Garden club responded to the roll call at the March meeting held at the home of Mrs. L. D. Springer with Mrs. W. M. Cantley associate hostess. Mrs. J. C. Corbin presided at the business session at which time further plans for the Rose club's flower center were made. The program chairman, Mrs. Garrett Story Sr., presented a very interesting program on "Other Gardens," and Mrs. J. C. Corbin told about "Ancient Gardens" using a clever story to illustrate her talk. Mrs. Story closed her program with descriptions of lovely English gardens. Delightful refreshments indicative of St. Patrick's day were served after the program.

Mrs. York and Mrs. Martin Co-hostesses to Cosmopolitan Club
Mrs. Mack Stewart was in charge of the program at the March meeting of the Cosmopolitan club at the home of Mrs. Basil York on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Lawrence Martin was co-hostess. After the short business session, Mrs. Stewart presented her program on her hobby, "Making Something Out of Nothing." She told of various exciting things she had made from seemingly nothing. Mrs. Perry Moses described refashioning old furniture and gave many helpful hints. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Kelly Bryant gave an illustrated talk on "Tables."

The hostesses carried out the St. Patrick motif in the delightful refreshments.

British Move on in Africa Reports Drive Successful, 'Conquest Assured'

CAIRO—(AP)—The British drive in Italian Somaliland continues "successfully," the British announced Saturday, following up their claim that final conquest already is assured.

From all other operations of the extended African war fronts the British only reported "no changes in the situation."

War Relief Is Aided by Clubs 169 Garments Made for Red Cross Since November

The Home Demonstration Club Council, composed of 41 organized Home Demonstration clubs over Hempstead county, co-operated with the local Red Cross in making garments for the War Relief program according to Mary Claude Fletcher, Home Demonstration agent.

Ten clubs have co-operated making 169 garments since November 1940.

Materials are available again for club groups to work on. Home Demonstration club presidents and Home Demonstration club clothing leaders are asked to call by Mrs. C. M. Agee's home at 411 East Second street to pick up materials for working at the present time.

Farm women over Arkansas are further cooperating with the Red Cross on the Needlecraft Bureau. The Executive Council of the Arkansas State Executive Council of Home Demonstration clubs has requested that each club member donate enough material making and delivering one child's cotton garment to the local chapter of the Red Cross by July 1. The Hempstead county council will participate in this program.

Bureau Adopts Calendar Year Membership to Run From January 1 to January 1

L. C. Sommerville, president of the Hempstead county Farm Bureau, announced that at the last board of directors meeting of the local Farm Bureau, which was held Friday, February 28, it was unanimously voted that the Farm Bureau year for Hempstead county would begin January 1. In order to get full benefits it will be well for everyone to sign up for 1941 as soon as possible.

Mr. Sommerville further advises that if any Farm Bureau member is not receiving the Farm Bureau papers to please notify the Extension office at once.

Dreiser Joins Isolation Cause
In Latest Book

Joining the scores of writers concerned with America's role in world affairs, Theodore Dreiser adds his weight to the cause of isolationism in a new book, "America is Worth Saving" (Modern Age; $2.50). Dreiser is castic and ironical in connection with United States' interest in European affairs, deploring our "unnatural passion" for England. He is hopeful of America's future only if American peace is maintained. His attitude is pretty well summarized in the following excerpt:

Wherever we look we come back to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution as the anchors of our democracy and welfare. We do not want an empire, we want democracy. The ideal of democracy is the highest humanity ever developed. It will withstand any propaganda from within or without if the people can only be satisfied that the ideal of the benefit of ALL, including the underprivileged, is fixed on the horizon.

To speak of democracy flourishing and being saved or advanced in war is like speaking of a fish flourishing out of water. The only air and abundant air, in which all ideas regardless of labels and origin can be expressed.

We must get a little sense in our heads at this late date and use our Constitution and Declaration of Independence as the only acid test of a man's loyalty to democracy instead of persecuting, as we are now doing, the very people who stand up for these national charters.

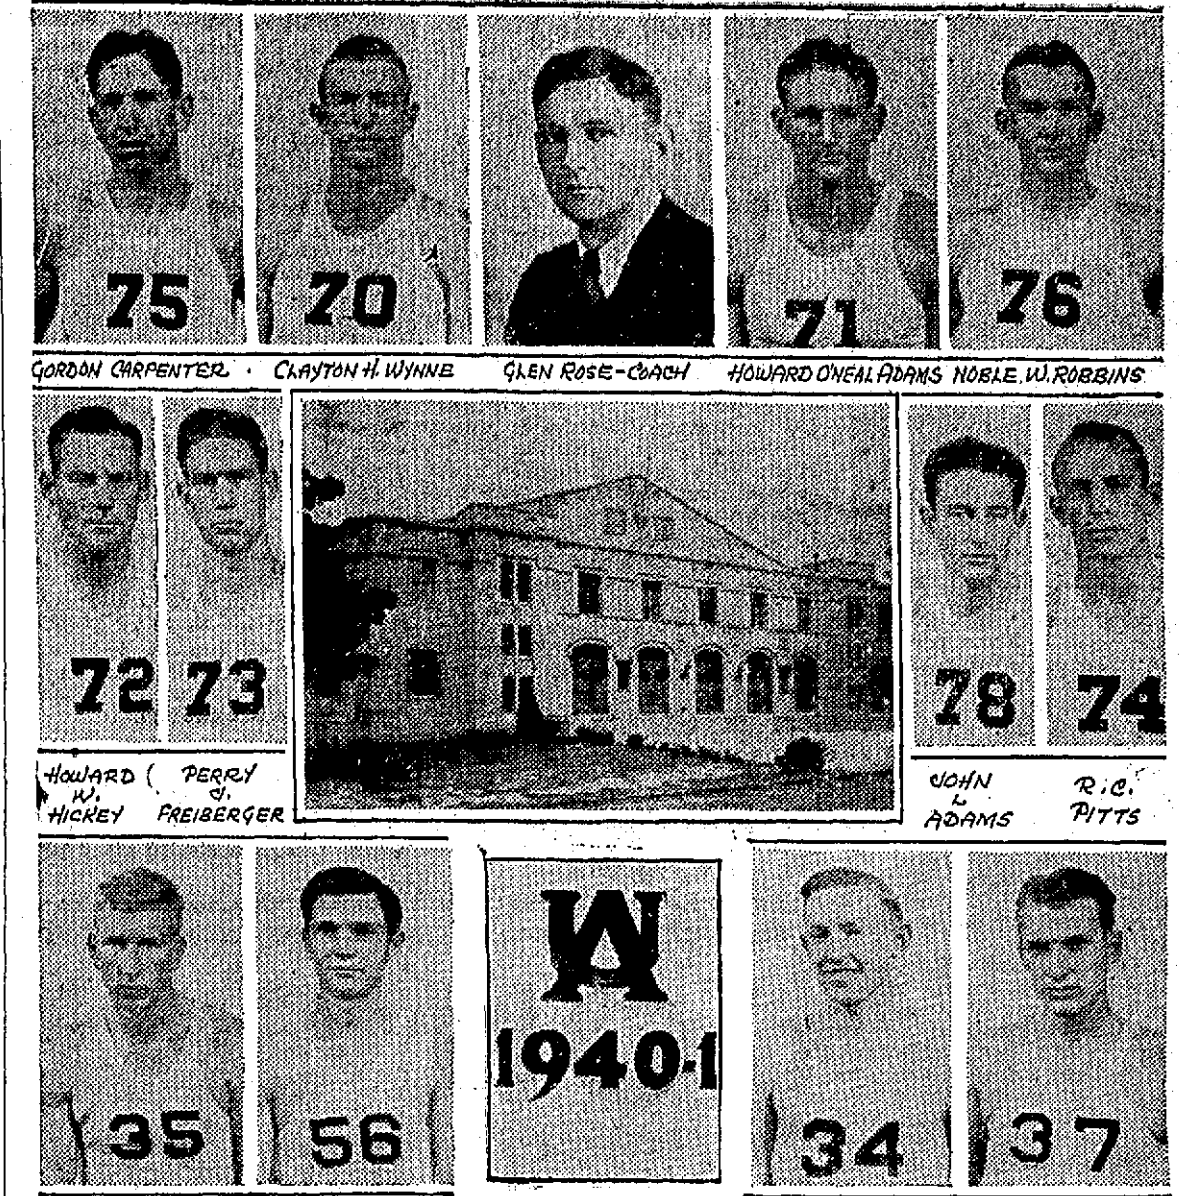

We must make the Constitution work—all of the Constitution—we will never have democracy. We must do it in a fully conscious and methodical and speedy way because if we don't it will come to fighting in our streets between brother and brother.

FAYETTEVILLE — The University of Arkansas Razorbacks, champions of the Southwest Conference, will play in the western finals of the N. C. A. A. basketball tournament at Kansas City March 21.

A telegram from J. W. St. Clair of Dallas, chairman of the sixth district, brought the information that the Razorbacks were the committee's unanimous choice to represent the Southwest. Dean J. S. Waterman, chairman of the Arkansas athletic council, announced the receipt and acceptance of the invitation.

The Razorbacks won the privilege of representing the Southwest in the national tournament by going through their 12-game Southwest Conference schedule without a defeat. In winning 12 straight games, the Razorbacks scored 446 points, the conference record. Their opponents scored 444 points. The average score of the Razorbacks' 12 victories was 34 to 37, a "spread" of 17 points per game.

Arkansas' most one-sided victory was scored over Texas A. & M., 68 to 33, a "spread" of 35 points. Closest calls that the Razorbacks had were in the second games against Baylor and Rice, each of which the Cardinal won by 5 points.

While John Adams, the Razorbacks' scoring ace, tallied 206 points in 12 conference games, other members of the squad also did some hefty scoring. Howard Hickey, all-conference guard, scored 119 points. He was followed by Gordon Carpenter, sophomore center, with 83; R. C. Pitts, with 77; Captain John Freiburger, with 61; and Clayton Wynn with 48.

Each of six Razorback regulars had a big night during the conference season. John Adams poured 36 points through the wicker against T. C. U. record. Their opponents scored 444 points. The average score of the Razorbacks' 12 victories was 34 to 37, a "spread" of 17 points per game.

Hickey had two big nights, scoring 17 points against Texas on Jan. 11 and the same number against T. C. U. on Feb. 22. Pitts had a big evening against Baylor, when he scored 14 points. Freiburger's high game was in the season's finale against T. C. U. when he tallied 12 points.

No. 11, when he tallied 12 points. Noble Robbins, sophomore substitute forward, celebrated against A. & M. when he scored 10 points.

Of the nine Razorbacks who won letters and gold championship balls for the season just closed, five will be available for further action next season. They are Pitts and O. Adams, Juniors, and Carpenter, Wynn and Robbins, sophomores.

Coach Glen Rose who pronounced his 1941 quintet the greatest team he has ever coached will have some fine talent coming up from this year's freshman squad. The freshmen, coached in 20 points against Texas in the season's opening game.

The wedding was set for 5 o'clock. Everything was in readiness for it, from Octavia's white-tied cake to Ann's orange blossoms. The house slept quietly after the festivities of last night. Likely, no one would stir until noon. So as April left her room bound for the walk, she tiptoed.

Her first surprise was in seeing that the door to Ann's room was ajar. Nip nosed ahead of her, poked his nose into the door. April stepped to close it and as she did, something struck her as wrong.

The bed was made, Ann's evening dress tossed lightly across it. APRIL tried to reassure herself. Ann had probably gone down stairs for early coffee. But even as she went to check, she knew that Ann wouldn't be in the kitchen.

The kitchen was empty, spotless, untouched. Octavia had stayed up late to wash and put away the party dishes so everything would be spic-and-span for the great day of her "little lamb's" wedding.

The other rooms were empty and the inside look was still across the front door. This cut off the last, dwindling hope that perhaps Ann had started off on an early walk, too.

"Something's wrong, Nip," April whispered, "dreadfully wrong." Nip knew it and sniffed up and down the hall and behind the fern screen. Then a door of the kitchen creaked and opened. April almost jumped in fright.

"Who all's there?" a familiar voice was asking. "Just me, Octavia." "Anything I can do for you, Miss April?"

No one must know yet; the house mustn't be aroused. So April thought quickly. "Yes, Octavia, go back to bed and sleep your head off for hours. It's going to be a hard day."

When Octavia, satisfied and unsuspecting, disappeared behind the door, April started upstairs. Every step was an agony. Even Nip sensed it, his whiskers bristling. It didn't take long to find the white envelope with her name on it in Ann's room. April held it, afraid to read, fearful of what answer her sister had found out of the three tangled lives.

Pros Land Another Good Man in Edwards; He May Not Have Name, But He Can Coach
Big Bill of Massillon Gets 'The' Massillon Way

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
Whether by accident or design, the National League of Professional Football Clubs landed another fine coach when the Detroit Lions took William Miller Edwards from Western Reserve University of Cleveland.

Fred Mandel of the Chicago department stores sought a big name coach for a Detroit clientele, whose resentment against outside ownership in both professional football and hockey was not diminished by the record and performances of his Lions of 1940.

Mandel offered Frank Leahy, who since switched from Boston College to Notre Dame, a contract that would have made the old Notre Dame tackle financially independent for life.

He bid high for Carl Snavely of Cornell. Bob Zuppke's demand for a block of stock was all that kept the Illinois guide from becoming the Lion tamer.

Unable to obtain a coach whose name would crack the headlines, Mandel did the next best thing. He decided to get a man who could coach. He got one in Bill Edwards.

Mandel did not make up his mind until agents talked to National League players drilled by Edwards at Western Reserve—Johnny Wilson, the Cleveland end, and Phil Ragazzo, Pittsburgh tackle, among them. In the final analysis, that is the true measure of a coach—what his players think of him, and Mandel was positive he was not making a mistake after contacting boys who knew Edwards best.

Under the personable Edwards, a team led by Gene Lembert who was a team mate of Rose's in his college days, had a successful season. Ott Young, David Paul Jones and other fresh numerical winners will be available for next year's variety.

Ellie May Minus Tobacco Road Dirt

Gene Tierney, New York debutante who plays Jeeter Lester's charming little daughter, Ellie May in the movie version of Tobacco Road, arrives in Manhattan looking surprisingly spick-and-span.

product of that cradle of football players, Massillon, O. Western Reserve lost only six games in six years. Against stronger competition than is generally imagined, Edwards' teams ran up unbeaten strings of 25, 13 and 7, the last one still unbeaten.

Yet, because Western Reserve is not a big time, Edwards did not get even a small share of national reputation until the Red Cats repulsed Dick Howell's Arizona State Teachers, 26-13, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Jan. 1.

Edwards, 35, and whose stockiness belies the Big Bill, although he weighs 210 pounds, played with independent teams prior to entering Massillon's Washington high school. He spent a year at Kiski School before captaining the Ohio State frosh. He switched to Wittenberg College of Springfield, O., because several Massillon boys enrolled there.

He played plenty of center and captained outstanding varsities in his junior and senior years.

Edwards football is reminiscent of that of Dr. Jock Sutherland. He employs the single wing to right and left with variations, a man-in-motion and spread formations. He is not afraid to open up and take a chance. He developed Ray Zeh, a superlative forward passer.

The son of a Welsh coal miner whose family had little money, Edwards had to quit school at 15 to earn his way on a man's job in the mines.

With sparse material, he had to get the most out of what he had at Western Reserve. He made a little go a distance.

Bill Edwards got there the hard way, and isn't going to Detroit to fail.

Marketing Bill Introduced in Legislature

Farm Bureau Explains Terms Proposed Under House Bill 464

The Agricultural Marketing Act of 1929, which the purpose is to enable farmers to set up marketing programs which will help them to get more nearly the full value for their products should be of interest to many Hempstead county farmers. This marketing act is House Bill No. 464 which will probably receive some consideration by the Arkansas Legislature this week.

The Hempstead County Farm Bureau reports the act is only a broad outline and provides for the marketing of agricultural products of any kind, but it does not directly benefit any producer or any group of growers, that is, it cannot be put into practice until a group of growers of a given product goes through a prescribed legal procedure for themselves by this act. This means that even if this bill were enacted, it would not have any effect on any farmer in Arkansas unless or until a group of farmers set up a program for themselves under it.

The bill sets up 11 provisions for marketing regulations, all of which are permissive only. A producing area could develop a marketing program using any one or more of these provisions. These 11 provisions, in brief, are:

- A. Uniform grading and inspection.
- B. Regulation of containers and packaging.
- C. Advertising and sales promotion.
- D. Price fixing and posting.
- E. Labeling, marking or branding.
- F. Collection of information on all shipment destinations.
- G. Weighing and inspection stations.
- H. Establishment of surplus or reserve pools.
- I. Regulation of marketing periods of the year.
- J. Elimination of surpluses and providing for equalizing the burden of surplus elimination among the handlers.
- K. Allow the board of control to cooperate with any State or Federal Agency.

Mr. W. E. Loe, who represents a group of cantaloupe growers around Sweet Home neighborhood believes that farmers would make great headway with their marketing program if this act could be enacted. Mr. Loe says that if the act were enacted, the growers then would have to go out and work up a program of the provisions set out in the act of their own to include one or more and then only after approval of two-thirds of the producers of the area and with the approval of the Arkansas State Plant Board which is designated as the Administrative office of the Board.

Mr. Loe believes that if farmers with products to market are to get a fair price for their products that some kind of legislation should and must be provided to protect and permit the farmers to satisfactorily market products. This Bill leaves it strictly up to the farmers producing certain commodities.

'Strawberry Blonde' to Play at Saenger Sunday, Monday

Today's woman has a mind of her own where fashions are concerned, declares Orry-Kelly of Warner Bros. She will not be dictated to about a style she thinks is distinctly becoming, nor will she give up one that is flattering though dogmatic designers may discard it.

She is, for instance, hanging on to squared shoulders, boleros, bouffant skirts, the page boy bob, flared silhouettes, turbans, snoods and lingerie touches at the neckline, though stylists have repeatedly said no. The ballerina skirt she refused to accept, had a mind of her own about the awkwardness of high wedged soles, put the wasp waisted corset right back on the shelf and immediately turned thumbs down on the exaggerated hobble skirt.

Proof that women are individualists and not of a common denominator any longer lies in the contrast between those of the period of "Strawberry Blonde," for which Orry has designed the clothes, and the lady of 1940 who dresses for comfort as well as style. "Strawberry Blonde" the hit at the Saenger, Sunday and Monday shows Rita Hayworth and Olivia de Havilland submissively submitting to starched shirtwaists with strangling necklines, coiffures heavy with braids, curls and hairpins, crippling high buttoned shoes with pointed toes and tight corsets.

Today's lady fair, says Orry, is smart. She achieves the effect of a tiny waist, wears a magnificent coiffure, shows beautifully shod feet, but never submits to discomfort. When Olivia de Havilland and Rita Hayworth wore their hats right straight on their pompadours in "The Strawberry Blonde," they were unwittingly training for one of Spring's newest hat caprices.

And since shoulders will no longer be padded like a football player's but follow the natural curve of the feminine shoulder, designers are put on their mettle to find a new means of giving them a little breadth, especially in coats and tailored suits. Orry-Kelly likes the "leg-o-lamb" sleeves (these used to be known as leg-o-mutton) particularly in evening coats.

So we end up with the typical "gay '90" silhouette, but without any of the discomfort the Gibson girls suffered.

Native Timber for Building

Farm Timberland Has Both Quality and Size

The farm timberland can contribute its share to the orderly conduct of the farm and farm home by furnishing lumber for the construction of adequate storage facilities, according to Oliver L. Adams, county agent.

The farm timberland can contribute lumber of quality and size sufficient to materially reduce the cash outlay for such storage facilities as pantries for canned foods, closets for clothing, shelves for cleaning supplies, desks, smokehouses, and sweet potato storage houses.

As an example, Frederick J. Shuley of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture points out that a sweet potato storage house, Plan No. 70302 in the Arkansas Plan Service Handbook, can be built from materials on the farm, with the only cash outlay going for cement and hardware. The house, 11 feet 8 inches square, is built of logs, with a stone foundation. The plan is available.

They could nationalize their railroads, mines, and other assets, and so, drive out foreign competition.

atic strategy, backed by German armies in Bulgaria, is to convince Greece of the futility of further fighting and to impress on Turkey Nazidom is supreme in southeastern Europe and that the influence of Britain has dwindled to nothing.

This information contended Turkey still had friendly relations with Germany despite her alliance with Britain and that Turkey welcomes German economic co-operation. Axis commentators here considered Yugoslavia more or less a side issue. Perhaps this was their expressed view—she too would join the Axis, and if not the tide of German influence would bring her into line later.

The Germans also say they are inclined to discount the Soviet note to Bulgaria. (This was a statement of disapproval at Bulgaria's allowing Nazi troops to come in.) Russia, they say, always had a following in Bulgaria and therefore it was "natural for the Soviet to say something for the benefit of the Bulgarian people."

One Axis commentator remarked: "We do not regard the note as of serious import insofar as international policy is concerned."

through the office of the county agent. Thus adequate storage facilities will be another benefit resulting to the farmer who gives his timberland proper care.
